CONCESSIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Limit: $32,500 per person

Includes employer super guarantee (SG), salary sacrifice and deductible personal contributions across all funds.

Generally taxed at 15%. Division 293 adds 15% on the lesser of relevant contributions or income plus contributions exceeding $250,000. Pay personally or elect release from super.

Unused caps from five prior years may apply if your TSB was below $500,000 at the prior 30 June. From 1 July 2026, Division 296 taxes realised earnings attributable to balances above $3m, with a higher tier above $10m. First balance test: 30 June 2027.

SG remains 12%. Payday Super applies from 1 July 2026.

NON-CONCESSIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS (AFTER-TAX)

Limit: $130,000 per person per year

For eligible new bring-forward periods in 2026/27, your total super balance (TSB) at 30 June 2026 determines the cap:

TSB < $1.84m:	$390,000 over 3 years
$1.84m–<$1.97m:	$260,000 over 2 years
$1.97m–<$2.1m:	$130,000 for 1 year
TSB ≥ $2.1m:	General NCC cap is nil

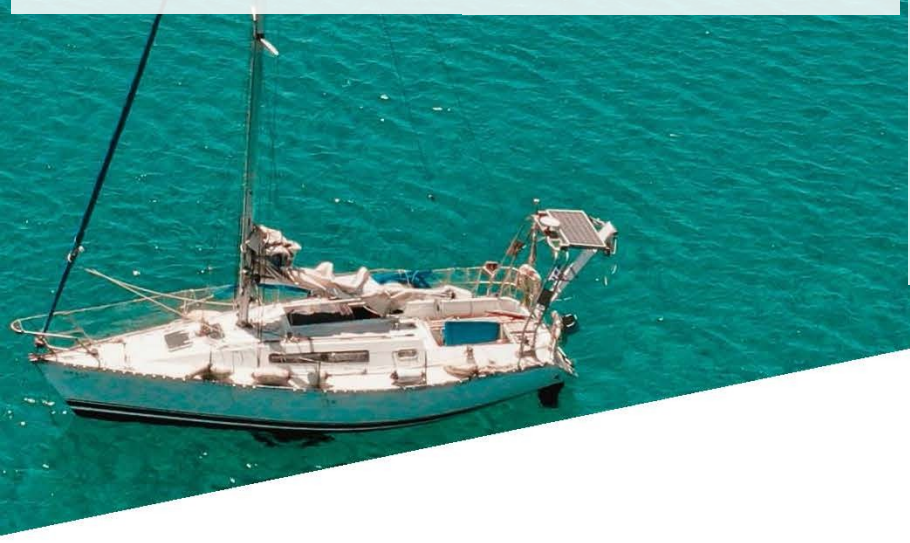

You must be under 75 during the year; acceptance deadlines apply. Existing periods retain their caps. Eligible downsizer, personal injury and small business CGT contributions may be excluded.

General retirement-phase transfer balance cap: $2.1m. Your personal cap may be lower.

LOW-INCOME CO-CONTRIBUTIONS

Eligible after-tax contributions attract a Government co-contribution of 50c per $1, up to $500. Contribute $1,000 for the maximum if your total income is $49,293 or less. The maximum reduces to nil at $64,293.

Eligibility includes age, residency, employment/business income, super balance and cap tests. Do not claim a deduction for the matched contribution.
